

Discuss risk management and industry credit related issues with fellow members

The BHETA Credit Forum has been developed after consultation with the management of BHETA and key players in the industry.

BHETA™ Credit Forum

BHETA CREDIT FORUM

During the current financial environment, we believe that to be a member of the forum brings many benefits as well as support and shared experiences.

The forum which is aimed at credit and/or finance professionals is workshop and discussion based rather than lecture based presentations.

The topics for discussion are:

- Topical round table discussions, such as Brexit and currency exchange rate fluctuations, market uncertainties etc.
- Current Trading Climate—round table discussion
- Accounts for discussion—round the table view of which customers are paying to terms, and those that aren't
- Update on the Retail Sector—Steve Hamstead, Acumen Credit Insurance Brokers & Brent Cumming, Experian
- The meetings are workshop discussion based rather than lecture based presentations.

FREE OF CHARGE

Members are invited to attend their first meeting free of charge. It's a good time to get involved in a forum and discuss the challenges with fellow likeminded people etc.

Testimonials

The amount of information gained on mutual customers has been invaluable and put to very good use. The Forum was excellent. It was presented in a professional, interesting, informative way and as a company, we can highly recommend attendance to the Credit Forums.

J.Lenthall, Amefa UK Ltd

The BHETA credit forum is always impeccably organised, with industry experts available for comments at all times. The frequency and duration of the meetings is just right—3 per annum, and allows for a mix of subjects to be presented around the core area of commercial credit control. The ability to establish a strong feedback loop from similarly placed suppliers is invaluable in making key credit decisions. Well worth the investment!

J.Dowdeswell, Simplehuman UK Ltd

The BHETA Credit Forum enables you to share information and experiences regarding your debtors and gives you the opportunity to meet with guest speakers and benefit from their expertise. Sharing your credit control frustrations and experiences with professionals within your own career sector enables you to gain knowledge and apply a different approach when trying to secure payment. A very friendly and relaxed atmosphere—I thoroughly enjoy it!
